Aldermen split vote over taxi ordinance

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Mayor Stella Frilot's vote to approve a Waveland taxi/limousine ordinance, broke a deadlock between aldermen and placed into law regulations uniform with the City of Bay St. Louis.

Aldermen Curtis P. "Phil" Colson (Ward 3) and Stan Weidman (Ward 4) voted against passage of the ordinance, while Barbara Rappold (Ward 1) and Bob Hubbard (Ward 2) voted approval.

The Waveland ordinance was adapted by city attorney Lucien Gex from the Bay St. Louis law.

During the course of discussion, Gex stressed the need for the city to remain in agreement with its neighboring municipality, lest services would suffer.

From a practical standpoint, the attorney explained, service would have to stop at the Waveland line should one municipality require more insurance than the other.

Taxi owner Carol "Pantyhouse" Landry advocated the lower the $300,000 liability insurance requirement, claiming it would be impossible for any taxi to generate enough income to manage the minimum $3,000 premium per vehicle cost, plus expenses.

Landry stated, "The high cost will put the little man out of business."

Weidman expressed concerns over the designation of the mayor as administrator of the licensing process. "The ordinance puts too much power in the hands of one person," he stated.

The ordinance requires the mayor to:

—investigate all information submitted by the applicant;

County prepares fund for casino tax revenues

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The county board of supervisors approved the establishment of a separate fund for anticipated casino tax dollars.

District 2 supervisor Alton "Dolph" Kellar suggested the board establish an escrow fund, setting this revenue apart.

The board unanimously approved the idea, though the county still awaits its first payment from the state on taxes collected from the Bay St. Louis located Casino Magic.

The board instructed attorney Gerald Gex to contact Senators Trent Lott and Thad Cochran and Representative Gene Taylor for the purpose of discussing sewer concerns prior to the January session of Congress.

Gex related a suggestion from Taylor that the board attempt to organize a meeting with the leaders while they are residing locally between sessions. Gex stated, this would save the county the cost of supervisors traveling to Washington for the same purpose.

Gex said he would invite the men to attend a December board meeting.

Stephen Guice, president of Mississippi Motorsports Park, Inc. requested board support of proposed legislation for the creation of the DeLisle Improvement District.

The district would be the governing body of a 15,000-acre theme and sports park; 10,000 acres to be located in central

Hancock County.

Gex stated, "I was under the impression this board instructed the county planning commission to make a recommendation."

Chancery Clerk Mike Nicaise added, "It is the consensus of this board that no action shall be taken until they hear from the planning commission."

Guice also reported Sunday to have met with approximately 100 Diamondhead citizens concerned over the location of the proposed park, during which time he answered questions to the best of his ability.

The board approved the leasing of the county owned Bayou Caddy marina facility to Pick up patrol

Children at the St. Rose de Lima Headstart school learned lessons in becoming good citizens Thursday as they scrambled to collect litter strewn about the yard. "Project Grandpa" volunteer William McCandless, in cooperation with the Hancock Chamber of Commerce beautification committee, coordinated the project. After the lawn was intentionally littered with small bits of paper and trash, the children were set free to gather the waste, returning the yard to its litter free status. Newspaper hats were distributed as awards. (Echo staff photo by Jacqui Cochran)

Kelly, Scarbrough offer free Thanksgiving dinners at Legion

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The annual free Thanksgiving dinner sponsored by mother and daughter, Sally Kelly and Beth Scarbrough, will be Thursday, November 26 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., or until the food runs out.

The dinner, which is open to the public, will be at the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post 139 home, Green Meadow Road, across from Winn-Dixie, Bay St. Louis.

The traditional free community dinner was started by Mrs. Kelly and her daughter when they operated C's Restaurant in Bay St. Louis some five years ago.

The duo receives donations from individuals and groups for the dinner, and area merchants donate food to be prepared, Kelly said.

When asked why do they do this community service, Kelly stated, "You shouldn't eat Thanksgiving dinner alone, and when people get together, God is there, too."

Last year some 200 Thanksgiving meals were served and this year the number should be about 300. "We feel the number of people will increase this year."

"This dinner is open to families, individuals and groups, now matter their circumstances. There will even be takeouts available for those who are unable to get out of their homes. All they have to do is have someone pick up a dinner for them," Kelly said.

The menu is to include sliced turkey and gravy, stuffing, whipped potatoes, vegetable, salad, roll, iced tea or coffee and dessert.

The American Legion donates the use of their building for this dinner. Persons coming to eat can bring a dessert, if they would like too, but this is not necessary, Kelly reported.

"Come eat with us at the American Legion and give thanks this Thanksgiving Day, too," she said.

Thanksgiving closings listed

In observance of the Thanksgiving holidays, The Sea Coast Echo office will be closed Thursday, Nov. 26.

The post office, county convenience centers, and Eastover, Hancock, Magnolia Federal and Merchant's banks will also be closed.

Bay St. Louis and Waveland city offices, as well as the county courthouse, will be closed November 26 and 27. Peoples Bank will be closed half a day November 25 and all day November 26.

All three branches of the Hancock County Library System will be closed November 26-28. Patrons wishing to return books during this time are asked to use the book drop on the Ulman Avenue side of the City-County Library.

An official at Waste Management said Bay St. Louis will not have garbage pickup Thursday, but Diamondhead's schedule will not be affected. A city official said Waveland will not have garbage service Thursday or Friday.

Gex: Complaints will continue after FmHA project completion

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Waveland city attorney Lucien Gex warned aldermen that complaints of incomplete work by sewer and water extension contractors will continue.

Gex said that although work by GM&R contractors has been declared substantially complete by city engineers, the city has a one year performance guarantee beginning the day of declared completion. In the event that the contractor does not live up to the guarantee, the bonding company becomes liable.

Ward 4 alderman Stan Weidman presented a list of complaints from five residents.

"I am sure there are items on the punch list not completed," Gex stated. "There will be items for a year following. This is not unusual."

He added the engineers have declared the majority of the work completed and in his opinion, the city cannot retain an excessive amount of the payment due.

Ward 1 alderman Barbara

Rappold moved that the city pay $69,000 of the final amount owed, retaining $10,000.

The board unanimously approved the payment following an explanation by Gex that a $20,000 asphalt payment dispute between the city engineers and GM&R was settled at a cost of $18,000.

The monthly docket was approved 3-1 with Weidman dissenting.

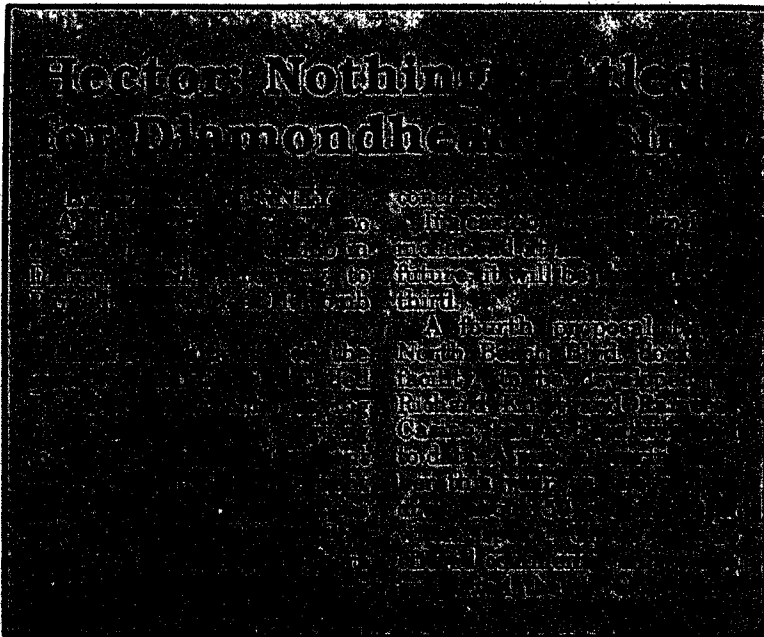

The resignation of Arcelyn "Dee" Dastugue as city clerk and the appointment of co-deputy clerk Betsy Phillips as city clerk was approved on a 3-1 voted with Weidman objecting.

Weidman requested viewing a letter of resignation from Dastugue and questioned the ability of Phillips to perform city clerk duties in addition to her present position.

Frilot said Dastugue, having reached retirement age, requested to work part time for the city.

Postmaster advises early mailing for Christmas delivery

A reminder from the U.S. Postal Service to mail early enough to get greeting cards and packages delivered in time for Christmas poses the question: How early is early enough?

"It depends," said Jimmy Moore, Postmaster Bay St. Louis.

"If you're mailing parcels overseas, the deadline was as early as October 1 to some destinations, or as late as December 2 to others. Mailers can get specific information on international mailing dates and other matters by calling us at 467-5788."

For mail within the continental United States, there is no deadline, and the volume of mail escalates dramatically during the week before Christmas.

Last year, the Postal Service handled 417 million cards and letters the last five days before Christmas. More than twice as much holiday mail was handled on the peak day, the Monday before Christmas, as in 1990. For the 1991 holiday mailing period November 16 to December 24, cards and letters totaled 3.1 billion (up 1.2 percent) and parcels totaled 267 million (up 3.2 percent).

Moore said early mailing is smart mailing. It spreads volume more evenly, contributing to more efficient delivery. Mailing early is also a hedge against possible delays caused by winter storms that may halt air or ground traffic. "We are well prepared for the volume of mail we will receive locally, but it does help us when it is more evenly distributed," the postmaster added.

—deny licensing should information reveal unacceptable health or relevant law violations;

—verify applicant's knowledge of ordinance provisions, traffic regulations and city geography.

The mayor, according to the ordinance, then recommends to the board approval or denial of the license.

The mayor is given the power to suspend or revoke a taxi driver's permit should the driver:

—fail to comply with ordinance provisions;

—be convicted of a crime of moral turpitude;

—be found guilty of DUI; disturbing the peace while operating vehicle for hire; reckless driving or violating speed limits; knowingly transporting intoxicating liquor; carrying concealed weapons in violation of law; knowingly transporting persons for the purpose of prostitution; knowingly driving vehicle for hire in mechanically unsafe condition; contributing to the delinquency of a minor; or violating any controlled substance law.

Under these conditions, the ordinance does not require the mayor seek board approval.

The ordinance also permits the mayor to dictate any and all hours of operations on Thanksgiving and Christmas days; along with determination of the type, style and design of a standard taxi meter.

The mayor recommends rates and fares to the board for approval or rejection.

Landry stated a section of the ordinance gives the mayor opportunity for selective approval concerning physical standards.

The section states, "Any person who now holds a permit to drive a taxicab, limousine or shuttle in the city who does not meet the physical requirements set forth herein, in the discretion of the mayor, may be recommended for a permit provided that, in the opinion of the mayor, his or her experience will justify an exception in that he or she will not as a taxi driver endanger the life, property, or welfare of the persons of the city."

Gex interjected, "The mayor's authority (over physical requirements) extends only to one who has been legally operating a taxi within the city. It is intended as a grandfather clause for those already in operation."

Weidman advocated the establishment of a supervisory board, consisting of aldermen-appointed volunteers, a representative of each ward, along with one taxi association representative.

The board, Weidman said, would review applications and submit recommendations for licensing for approval by the aldermen.

Landry commented there is no existing taxi association, but he would be willing to serve on the board.

Upon roll call for a vote on approval of the ordinance, Weidman refused to vote. Frilot instructed acting clerk Betsy Phillips to record Weidman's vote as, "No." She then voted, "Yes," thereby breaking the tie and passing the ordinance into law.

General Schwarzkopf was everything I had heard and read about him."

CREDIT CARD FRAUD

Two New Orleans residents were arrested and charged with credit card fraud Tuesday, according to Bay St. Louis Police Investigator Tom Burleson.

Burleson said Brittany Theresa Weber, 20, and Thelma Marie Lea, 28, were arrested at 5:29 p.m. Tuesday during a shoplifting investigation at the Kid Co. on Hwy. 90. "Officers responded to a call for shoplifting. While investigating that call, they recovered items bought in Biloxi and Waveland on someone else's card."

Weber was charged with credit card fraud and incarcerated in the Hancock County jail under a $10,000 bond. Lea was charged with no driver's license, no car tag and credit card fraud. She was jailed under a $10,200 bond.

Burleson said both women were still in jail Friday afternoon. He added that charges are pending in Waveland, and Biloxi authorities have also asked that the women be held for charging.

Detective Kurt Raymond and Officer Jim Martin are in charge of the investigation.

In other business the board approved:

—the reappointment of Aaron Brenske to the Waveland Housing Authority commission;

—December 6 for the Christmas Festival of Lights;

—city participation in the Mississippi Coast Planning and Development Corporation;

—acceptance of the 1992 tax assessment rolls from the county, to be collected in 1993;

—mayor signing certification to municipal compliance questionnaire, year ended September 30, 1992, as required by the Mississippi municipal audit and accounting guide;

—recommendations by Planning and Zoning Commission meeting, October 26, 1992 (ratifying poll vote from November 4);

—authorization for Michael Barnes, Dwight Haskell and Walter Perkins to attend classes on federal and state regulations on public water supplies in Hattiesburg; and —minutes from November 3 meeting.

Joseph Zrowka of Superior Street complained city workers removed street dirt while grading, resulting in increased flooding during heavy rains.

Zrowka also stated city workers removed street and ditch dirt and placed it on private property.

Frilot said, to her knowledge only ditch dirt was removed and disposed of on a privately owned residential lot, with permission of owners, after workers determined the dirt to be unusable.

Gex stated there is nothing illegal in the city disposing of unwanted dirt, as long as permission is given by the property owners.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I sure hated to see the rains come on Friday as it delayed the completion of the parking area by the Walking Track in front of Hancock Medical Center.

I am very happy to see the City of Bay St. Louis provide this very needed asphalt.

The Walking Track is one of the most used facilities in the county, and I see folks of all ages using it throughout the day and night.

It appeared the asphalt company was almost finished with the project.

One wonders where the year has gone, as Thursday will be Thanksgiving, and Christmas will be not far behind.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is in the process of taking reservations for the annual Christmas Banquet scheduled for December 4.

Guest speaker will be Col. Frederick D. Gregory, former Astronaut and current Administrator of Safety and Mission Quality with NASA.

Those interested in attending the banquet can call the chamber for further particulars at 467-9048.

Things are coming together for the annual Christmas parade set for Saturday, Dec. 5, at 11 a.m.

This parade is to precede the Toys for Tots football game with Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police departments taking on the Hancock County Sheriff's Department deputies.

It is told that some 'ancient' players will be on the field, and thank goodness there will be some younger stars too.

Many special guests are scheduled to appear, such as Who Dat, Gill Fenerty, Saintsations, and the man from the North Pole, Santa and his Elves.

Santa will once again ride on top of a Big Red with his Elves.

Many marching groups have already signed up to participate in the parade, and it will be the largest Christmas parade in many a year in Hancock County.

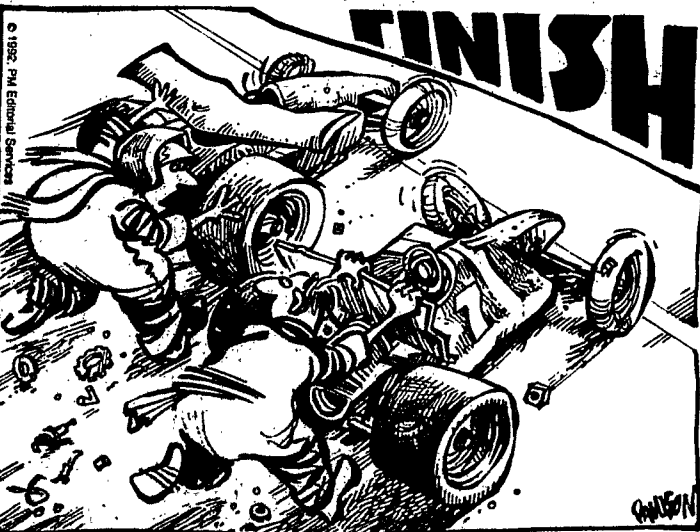

Anyone or group interested in participating in the parade, please call the chamber at 467-9048.

Several young ladies from the public and private elementary schools will be selected as the court and queen of the game.

Admission to the game will be one doll or toy in good condition.

Since this game involves 'the fuz,' I am glad I am not a referee, as his decisions could come back to haunt him in the future.

I will be giving you more information prior to the big football game and parade in days to come.

I SURE DO MISS THE OLD DAYS WHEN WE HAD THOSE BIG CARTRIDGE SPRINGERS...

Heroism recognized

Andrew J. Arceneaux, Bayside Park resident, is presented with a plaque on November 12 by Bayside Fire Department president Dwight Guillot, commending Arceneaux for outstanding courage and bravery demonstrated on October 24 when he entered the burning home of neighbor Vivian Netto and assisted her outside. Arceneaux thanked department members and stated, "You are making too much of it. It was just something that had to be done at the time." (Echo staff photo by Jacqui Cochran)

CONSUMER TIPS

Contracts:

Consumers enter into contracts to buy a home, an automobile, home appliances, home repairs and various other reasons. Once signed, the contract is binding. The following tips are offered to help consumers when it is necessary to enter into a contract for any reason:

1. Never sign anything you do not fully understand. If you can't understand the contract, have your own expert review it.

2. Never sign a contract if a promoter or retailer will not let you have another person review it first.

3. Be sure that all verbal promises are included in the written contract.

4. Never sign a contract that has blank spaces. Draw lines through them first.

5. Be sure to keep a copy of any contract you sign.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Innocence lost

It used to be that the schools were viewed as a sanctuary for our children, a place for them to go to learn and share and grow. Schools were a shelter from the problems of youth, a place where kids could feel a sense of safety and trust from their teachers, counselors and fellow students.

That's the way it used to be. Today, in too many of our public schools, children have lost their safe havens. They've lost them to the streets, to violence, to the dangers of our modern society.

A recent issue of CQ Researcher compared two lists compiled by teachers of the most prevalent problems in public schools. In 1940, the problems on the list included talking out of turn, chewing gum, making noise, running in halls, cutting in line, dress code infraction and littering.

The 1990 list: drug abuse, alcohol abuse, pregnancy, suicide, rape, robbery and assault.

There's really not a lot more that can be said about these lists; they do an effective job of speaking for themselves.

Something has to be done. Our children need and deserve their sanctuaries, their shelters, their schools.

Astronaut presents Navy with flag carried in space

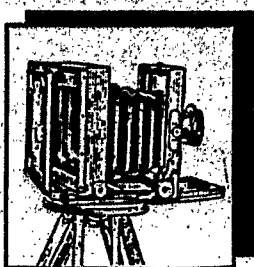

Every day the Naval Oceanography Command's insignia is displayed at more than 60 locations around the world. Last November, it literally was displayed around the world when a flag bearing the command's emblem flew with astronaut and naval officer, LCDR Mario Runco Jr., during STS-44 aboard the Space Shuttle Atlantis. Now the banner is again earth-bound at its home—the Naval Oceanography Command Headquarters, Stennis Space Center.

Runco presented the flag to Rear Admiral John E. Chubb, Commander, Naval Oceanography Command, during the annual Navy Ball Runco was guest speaker at the gala which was held at the Pinewood Country Club in Slidell, La.

The white nylon standard bearing the Command's black and gold insignia measures approximately 6 feet by 5 feet

In addition to the Command's Headquarters, the space center is home to its largest subordinate activity, the Naval Oceanographic Office, as well as a detachment of the Naval Research Laboratory. Together, they are the Mississippi Gulf Coast's fifth largest employer. tall. It will remain on display in the Command's Headquarters building.

The Naval Oceanography Command Headquarters is one of three U.S. Navy activities presently located at SSC. Components of what was to become the Command moved to the site in 1976, and the Command was officially created in 1978. Today, it comprises more than 3,000 officer, enlisted and civilian personnel. Its mission is to provide oceanographic, meteorological and mapping, charting and geodetic services to operating military forces.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Love of work shows at shelter

Dear Editor,

On Nov. 16, 1992 we had the pleasure of visiting the Waveland animal shelter. What a joy! What a wonderful experience!

What a difference people who love their jobs make. The people who run the shelter are marvelous. They love the animals, care for them, and also extend a helpful hand to anyone who is looking for a pet. They are knowledgeable and efficient.

When you leave, you leave feeling good about yourself and about Waveland. They are a credit to your town. Thanks to these wonderful people we adopted a beautiful dog—and feel great.

Some Mississippi oyster reefs closed Friday afternoon due to excessive rainfall.

Areas affected by the closure include: Area 2 conditionally approved waters, including Pass Christian and Henderson Point reefs; Area 3 conditionally approved waters, including Long Beach reef; and Area 4 conditionally approved waters, including Cat Island.

Hancock County to participate in state waste reduction study

Hancock County is one of 10 participants in the state-funded Nonhazardous Solid Waste Minimization Potential Analyses.

The study, which will be coordinated through the Mississippi Solid Waste Reduction Assistance Program (MSSWRAP) offices at Mississippi State University, will address means of reducing solid waste, including improving or implementing recycling programs.

The program is under the umbrella of the state Department of Environmental Quality. DEQ waste reduction/waste minimization program director Thomas E. Whitten explained in a recent letter to the board of supervisors, "We feel that proper management of all wastes must involve waste minimization; therefore, we are appreciative for your willingness to participate in this program.

The analyses to be conducted include studying the county's nonhazardous solid waste management plan and any plans submitted for cities in the county; number, location and owners of landfills in the county; size, capacity remaining, sources of waste for those landfills; waste collection procedures in the cities and county; any previous, current and proposed local and regional recycling programs; and any commercial operations in the area that accept recyclables, among other items.

One city and one county were selected from each Congressional district in the state to participate in the study. The Fifth District's city is Gautier.

Ask the Veteran's Service Center

By Donald Mauffray
Veteran's Service Officer

By Donald Mauffray, VSO
Q. I am a WWII veteran. I was injured during the war, but I never filed a claim for disability compensation for my injury. Is it now too late for me to file a claim?

A. No. There is no time limit for filing a disability claim for a service-related condition.

Q. What is the reimbursement for flight training under current law?

A. The VA reimburses 60 percent of the cost of the course, excluding all solo flights.

Q. Who is eligible for the Student Work-Study Allowance Program?

A. A student enrolled on a 3/4-time basis or higher under Chapter 30 (Montgomery GI Bill), Chapter 31 (Vocational Rehabilitation), Chapter 32 (VEAP), Chapter 35 (Survivors' and Dependents' Educational Assistance), and Chapter 106 (Selected Reserve Program) is eligible to apply for work-study.

Q. May a surviving spouse's pension benefits be terminated based on an "inferred marriage," even though the state in which the spouse resides does not recognize "common-law marriages?"

A. Yes.
Q. I was recently separated from the military under the Special Separation Benefit (SSB) incentive plan. I also was determined to be 30-percent disabled by the VA. Does the SSB payment affect the compensation I will be getting from the VA?

A. It probably will, because in most instances, VA must recoup the SSB payment. The only instance where this does not happen is when a veteran previously received compensation for a disability incurred during a period of service prior to the period of service used to compute the SSB payment.

Q. My father was exposed to radiation while on active duty in the early 1950s and later died of leukemia. Is my mother entitled to any VA benefits?

A. Possibly. If your father developed the disease within 40 years from his discharge, exposure to radiation during military service is confirmed, and the disease is determined to be service-connected by the VA, your mother would be entitled to Dependency and Indemnity Compensation.

Whatever your tastes and talents in the kitchen, whatever the number of diners at your table on Thanksgiving Day, you're sure to find just the right size and sort of turkey for the traditional meal, if you saunter through our area supermarkets these days before the holiday.

And, if you don't choose turkey for the piece de resistance, check out the other "birds" without their feathers: ducklings, baking hens, cornish hens, and so on. And, if your tastes run more to pork, pick up a whole ham, or a pork crown roast, smoked ham, a shank as you choose. For beef eaters, there are good buys in beef roasts.

As for the turkeys, there are special prices on whole turkeys; young turkeys, broad breasted turkeys, fresh turkeys, frozen turkeys, self-basting turkeys, smoked turkeys, turkeys for all palates and purses!

You'll also find turkey breasts, smoked turkey breasts and so on. You'll even find turkey parts; so, it's your choice!

Just about every cook worth his or her mixing spoon has his or her own special formula or extra touch for that perfect Thanksgiving turkey. I'm sure. I've held to the old-fashioned open roaster method, with high seasonings and constant basting. And, I always, always sprinkle sage liberally over the turkey as it cooks. I've never really been sure just what the sage adds to the taste, but it certainly makes the whole kitchen smell wonderful!

Another extra-flavor accent, to me, is that I tuck flavorful seasonings under the skin of the turkey, so that the flavor permeates the turkey as it cooks. I often use softened butter, along with sage and lemon pepper and a little chopped fresh garlic. It's easy: ever so carefully, with your fingers, loosen the skin of the turkey all around the breast area, and spread the seasoned butter mixture under the skin with your hands. The flavor and juices cook way, way down into the meat instead of running off into the pan. Heavenly!

And, now it's confession time! After all my rambling about cooking the Thanksgiving turkey, I must confess that I'll not be standing over the stove at all! I'll not be cooking a turkey! Instead, I'll be celebrating the holiday with my family in Mandeville, and Sue will be cooking her always delicious turkey! But I hope that these hints have helped!

Before we leave turkey-land let me tell you about a recipe I've just received for a different sort of turkey dinner, deep fried turkey! I haven't tried this recipe, but it's authentic, from South Louisiana country, and vouched for by Jacqui Cochran, of the Echo staff. And she's a top cook!

Here's how Dale Taylor, a builder by day and a gourmet cook otherwise, cooks:

DEEP FRIED TURKEY

Seasoning:

1/2 Jalapeno pepper, onion, bell (green) pepper, and Tony Chachere's Seasoning (or other Creole seasoning)

Wash the turkey and slit the skin in several areas. Stuff the seasoning mix under the skin, and pin closed with toothpicks. Sprinkle Tony's seasonings on the outside.

In deep pot, heat hog lard (Jacqui says it's a must) to 380 degrees. Don't let oil overheat, or the turkey will burn. Fry the turkey for 3 minutes per pound, and enjoy!

Jacqui says that a 12 to 15-pound bird will require 4 gallons of oil, and will take 45 minutes to cook. Drain well, or course. She also cautions us not to stuff the cavity, as the turkey will burn and the insides won't cook; in other words, as Dale advised: "It won't work!"

As for accompaniments to the turkey or whatever, you've a wide, wide choice in variety and price, from mirlitons and corn and mushrooms and yams and greens to the citrus fruits. Enjoy!

AND: For good, tasty additions to your menu, check the "Cooking Up a Storm" column which appears on this page. It contains a menu, or part of it, from the Harvest Dinner this past Thursday at Virginia Hall on the grounds of Christ Episcopal Church.

Check it out, and try the Spinach Casserole, Sweet Potato Casserole and Cranberry Relish. I'll promise that you'll enjoy these recipes, as I have for many a year! Happy Thanksgiving!

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Favorite recipes from Harvest Dinner shared by the Women of Christ Church

Through the years I've "seesawed" over which food is my favorite on the menu of the annual Harvest Dinner of the Women of Christ Church. I'm still not quite sure—and last Thursday marked the 44th year the ladies have offered this pre-Thanksgiving treat to the Bay-Waveland area!

Proceeds from the dinner fund the many charitable projects of the group throughout the year.

For those of you who enjoyed the menu on Thursday, and wish to stir up some of the treats for your own Thanksgiving dinner and other times as well, here are recipes for the cranberry relish, the sweet potatoes and the spinach casserole.

All are popular favorites at the annual dinner, along with turkey or ham, cornbread dressing, and so on. I don't have the recipe for the dressing, which was made by Armand's Restaurant, but here's:

CRANBERRY RELISH

3 bags fresh cranberries
2 cups sugar (add more to your taste)
1/2 lb. raisins
Peel of 1 orange, grated
Juice of 1 orange
1/2 cup vinegar
1 tsp. cinnamon (ground)
1/2 tsp. each cloves (ground) and ginger (ground)
Wash cranberries and place all ingredients in a large pot. Bring to a boil. Let boil for approximately an hour until marmalade, stirring often.

And, here's: SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE

8 medium sweet potatoes
1 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla
3 Tbsp. sugar
1/2 stick butter or margarine
3 dashes nutmeg
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1 Tbsp. orange juice
Marshmallows
Bake sweet potatoes at

350 degrees until done. Peel and mash. Scald milk; add vanilla, sugar and butter. To potatoes add cinnamon and nutmeg, orange juice. Stir. Add milk mixture. Layer potatoes and marshmallows and bake. (Quadruple recipe to serve 50)

And, last but far from least:

SPINACH CASSEROLE

4 (10 oz.) pkgs. frozen, chopped spinach
1 (8 oz.) block cream cheese
1 pkg. Lipton Onion Soup Mix
1 stick margarine
Lemon/pepper seasoning
Cook and drain spinach; melt butter and cheese. Add soup mix and seasonings. Fold into spinach. Put into casserole. Top with Italian bread crumbs and Parmesan cheese. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves 8. (Freezes well. Quadruple recipe for 50)
And, enjoy!

Cranberry cake is great holiday dessert

FESTIVE

CRANBERRY CAKE

1 package (18.25 ounces) Betty Crocker SuperMoist white cake mix with pudding
3/4 cup Betty Crocker Creamy Deluxe vanilla ready-to-spread frosting

1/3 cup cold milk
1 envelope (1.4) ounces) whipped topping mix

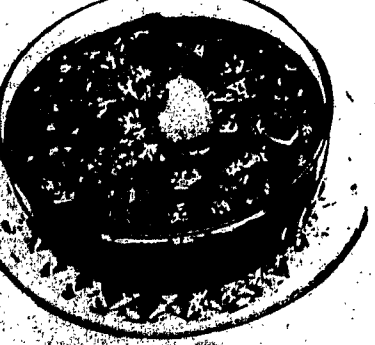

1 jar (14 ounces) cranberry-orange relish or 1 package (10 ounces) frozen cranberry-orange relish, thawed

Heat oven to 350°. Grease and flour 2 round pans, 9x1 1/2 inches. Prepare and bake cake mix as directed on package. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pans and cool completely. Split cake to make 4 layers. (Use split mark sides of cake with wooden picks and cut with long, thin knife).

Blend frosting, milk and whipped topping mix (dry) in small bowl on low speed, scraping bowl constantly. Beat on high speed, scraping bowl occasionally, until smooth and thick, about 1 minute.

Spread one layer with 1/4 of the frosting mixture. Spoon 1/4 of the cranberry-orange relish over top. Swirl relish into frosting mixture. Repeat with remaining layers, frosting mixture and relish.

Refrigerate one to two hours before serving. Refrigerate any remaining cake.

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

BE HONEST

Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyer's trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

THE BOTTOM LINE

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

ARTIN' ABOUT

Local artists participate in group show at Serenity

Mysteria:

Serenity Gallery, 126½ Main Street in Bay St. Louis, will host an opening reception for the "Mysteria" group show November 29, 2-5 p.m. The show will run through December 31.

"Mysteria" is a collaboration of three of the Coast's most popular artists: Brenda Randolph, Tony Eccles and Kat Fitzpatrick. Jim Ballard has created special music to reflect the theme of the show and will perform it at the opening.

Self communication is the common thread in the works, all of which are new and were created for this exhibition.

Fitzpatrick's works are vivid, almost abstract images of heads and figures that capture her "waking dreams", and show a departure in color from her past works.

Eccles uses mixed media and found objects to provoke both thought and laughter. He explores eternal questions with the insight of a psychologist and the whimsy of a sharp, upbeat sense of humor.

Randolph's work reflects her personal artistic journey and exposes many of her most painful life experiences. The current pieces depart from the gold surfaces and jewel-like colors for which she is known.

Puppet theatre:

Puppet Arts Theatre will perform "The Fisherman and His Wife," based on the fairy-tale of the Brothers Grimm and accompanied by the music of Nicolai Rimsky-Korsakov, Monday, 10 a.m., at Bay High School.

The show is sponsored by Coast Episcopal Elementary School and North Bay Elementary.

Seward display:

An exhibit of watercolor and acrylic paintings by Ocean Springs artist Norma Seward continues through December at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory's J.L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium in Biloxi.

The center is open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday-Saturday.

Hometown heroes:

Mississippi natives Marie Hull, Eudora Welty, William Hollingsworth, Edgar Parker and William Dunlap are the featured artists at the Mississippi Museum of Art as the Museum celebrates "Hometown Heroes" in conjunction with the 175th anniversary of Mississippi's statehood.

Also featured in this salute to Mississippi artists and art patrons will be the Sara Virginia Jones collection of prints and 1990-91 acquisitions to the MMA permanent collection. These exhibits will open December 12 as part of the Mississippi Homecoming celebration events in downtown Jackson.

MMA is located next to the Davis Planetarium, 201 E. Pascagoula Street in downtown Jackson, and is open to the public Monday-Saturday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m., and Sunday, noon-5 p.m. Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for children.

For more information, call 960-1515 or 1-800-423-4971.

Submissions to Artin' About should be sent to The Sea Coast Echo, P.O. Box 2009, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. Notices will be edited and published on a space-available basis.

Fall colors plant ideas

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative...
Extension Service

Trips to nurseries and garden centers at this time of year are time well spent. You'll see the fall foliage colors of many deciduous trees and shrubs, and this can be a deciding factor in selecting plants for your yard.

Many shrubs such as holly, pyracantha and viburnums have fruit you don't see during spring and summer visits. Shrubs that bloom only in the fall can add color and fragrance to the home landscape at this time of the year.

There's no need to wait until spring to purchase and plant your selections since fall is an ideal time to set out trees and shrubs.

You might have thought that spring flowering bulbs and pansies are about the only plants to put out in the fall, but you'd be mistaken.

Because soil temperatures remain warmer than air temperatures, roots on fall planted shrubs and trees continue to grow and help the plants become established. Purchase fall blooming shrubs now while in bud or bloom and enjoy them until winter.

Camellia sasanqua is one of the best fall flowering landscape shrubs because of its attractive dark green foliage and relative freedom from serious diseases and insect pests.

Blooming begins in mid fall and extends until early winter or whenever a hard freeze kills the blooms and unopened flower buds.

Sasanquas are adapted to almost all areas of the state while the larger and later flowering Camellia japonica performs best in the lower half of the state.

Sasanqua blooms may be single or double, and the color ranges from pure white to bright red. Some of the blooms are fragrant.

Where Camellia japonica flourishes, nothing can beat it for color and beauty in late birds. Hamamelis, commonly called witch hazel, is another hardy shrub that blooms in late fall and winter. The flowers aren't all that showy, but they are fragrant.

in Mississippi
Gardens

winter and early spring. As with crape myrtles, buying camellias in bloom eliminates any surprises about flower color.

Camellias grow well in light shade and should be planted in a well-drained soil with an acid pH. They like the same growing conditions as azaleas.

Elaeagnus pungens has inconspicuous flowers with a delightful, spicy fragrance that can carry for quite a distance on sunny fall days.

Normally planted for its attractive foliage and ability to quickly form a screen or impenetrable barrier, Elaeagnus may reward you with a heavy crop of fruit in the spring that is very popular with migrating song

Winter honeysuckle has creamy white lemon scented blooms that begin in late winter and early spring. This large shrub is adapted throughout the state.

Flowering quince are spring blooming shrubs, but are so anxious to flower they seem to have a few open flowers throughout the winter. Hard freezes kill the open blossoms but with just a day or two of moderate temperatures more flower buds open.

Japanese fatsia, grown for its large dramatic leaves but of questionable hardness in north Mississippi, is also a fall/winter bloomer.

CONSUMER UPDATE

Beware of holiday credit traps

By Janet K. Lukens
Area consumer money management specialist
GUARANTEED HOLIDAY BUCKS ARE WAITING FOR
YOU! $2,500 - Absolutely guar- anteed. Promises of quick and easy cash will entice many consumers to borrow for Christmas giving. But before taking the bait, read the fine print. Credit card companies, finance companies, and other lending institutions are competing for business during the holiday season. Offers will include: ready cash to use however you wish, loan by mail, guaranteed amount, rapid or immediate delivery of the funds, easy terms and application process.

Ads may also urge consumers to respond quickly, limited time offers can apply.

Consumers who receive this type offer should read beyond the initial promises. One recent offer in our area carried a 23.9% interest rate and over $600 total finance charges on a $1,500 loan.

In addition, credit life insurance was offered for an additional charge. The credit life insurance on this loan would be subtracted from loan proceeds, thereby reducing the cash available to the customer.

The cost of the loan is not all the consumer should consider. It is also important to review other details disclosed in loan agreement. In the event the individual decides to prepay the loan prior to the scheduled terms, it is important that borrowers know prepayment penalties and the method of calculating refunds of finance charges.

Many small installment loans allow for prepayment of the loan but use a method of calculating refunds that may mean a smaller refund than the borrower expects.

If the contract agreement indicates a refund will be paid in accordance with the Rule of 78's methods, look carefully at interest savings prior to early repayment.

Because this calculation method accelerates the interest portion of the loan to the front-end of the repayment period, benefits of prepayment may be less than early payments on a revolving account in which interest is calculated on an ongoing basis.

Some credit card companies are offering cash advances but requiring an initial cash advance of as much as $2,000. Read carefully prepayment penalties and finance charge disclosures prior to signing the agreement.

Look for other types of insurance in addition to credit life insurance, which pays the balance on the loan in the event of the borrower's death.

Other types insurance often sold with a credit agreement include disability insurance which pays the note in the event the individual is disabled and an involuntary termination provision which pays in the event of a job layoff.

If merchandise is purchased with the loan proceeds, property insurance or extended warranties may also be a part of the credit contract. Always compare the insurance product you are purchasing through a creditor with comparable insurance sold directly by an insurance company. It is very likely the insurance can be obtained for a lower price by buying directly from the insurer.

Knowing the terms of a loan agreement in advance can avoid costly mistakes that last long after the holiday season.

A special visitor

"Crunchy Critter" awarded the children of North Bay Elementary badges Thursday in recognition of healthy food choices.

Crunchy Critter is part of the "Crunchy's Choice" nutrition education program promoted at North Bay and Waveland Elementary schools.

Crunchy's Choice is designed to encourage lower elementary students to choose foods reduced in fat, sugar and salt and high in iron.

The program is an attempt by Mississippi schools to help students learn to make food choices that are consistent with Dietary Guidelines for Americans.

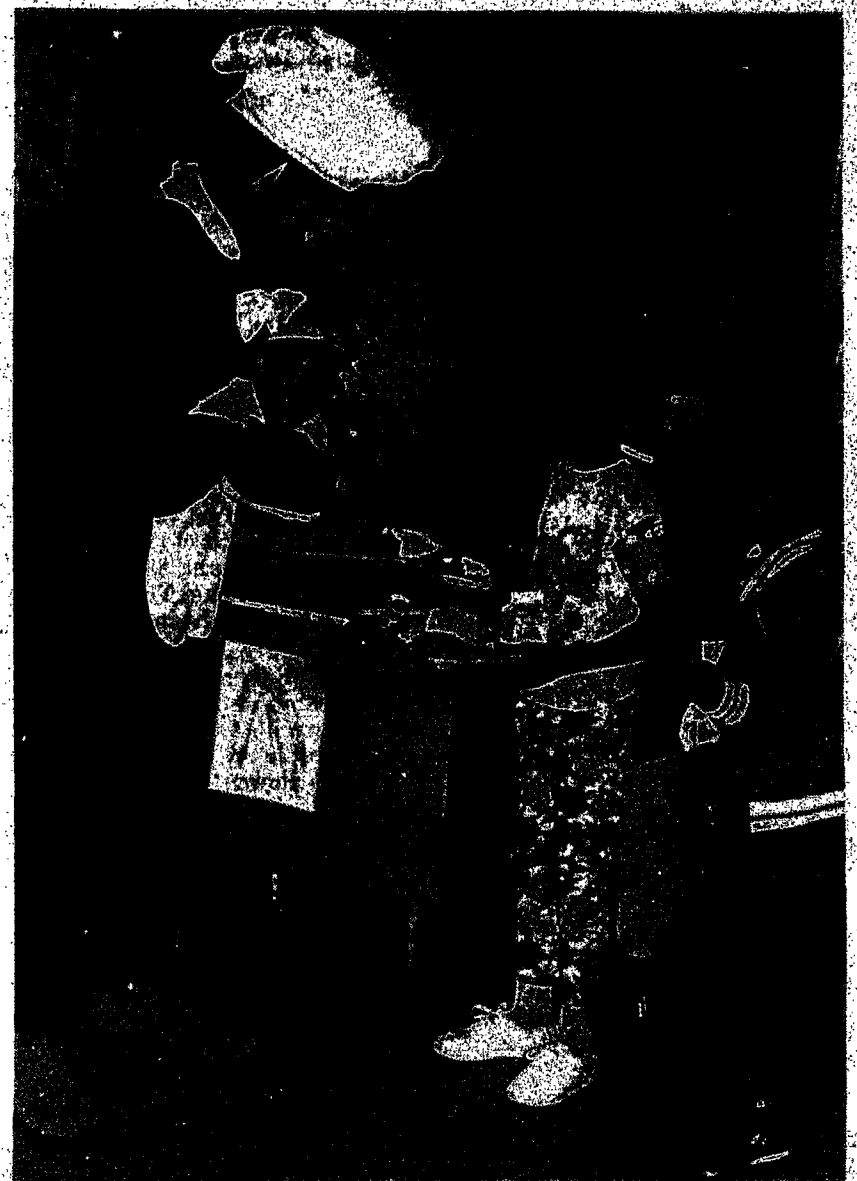

The dietary guidelines, established by the Office of the U.S. Surgeon General, recommends eating a variety of foods; choosing foods low in fat, saturated fat and cholesterol; eating plenty of vegetables, fruits and grain products; and using salt and sugar only in moderation.

The Crunchy's Choice program will continue serving nutritious foods after the promotion has ended.

During the program, children in kindergarten through third grade will participate in special nutrition activities featuring Crunchy Critter in their classrooms. Parents will receive a nutrition newsletter each week.

The magic of Christmas

Nutcracker ballet comes to Diamondhead

A scene from "The Nutcracker"

In celebration of the 100th anniversary of Tchaikovsky's master work, "Nutcracker," the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society has chosen to close its 1992 season by presenting this annual Christmas holiday spectacular.

The performance will be given on Sunday, Dec. 13 at the Diamondhead Country Club. Curtain time is 5 p.m.

The Nutcracker is produced by the Jefferson Performing Arts Society and will be performed by the Jefferson Ballet Company with choreography by Myra Mier. The superb cast of dancers ensures an outstanding and beautiful presentation.

As the curtain opens, the audience is drawn into the merriment of a Christmas Eve celebration. It is the Silberhaus home; a huge gaily decorated Christmas tree dominates the room. Soon guests arrive to join Mr. and Mrs. Silberhaus and their children, Clara and Fritz.

Dancing and gaiety abound. Suddenly a mysterious guest appears, bringing gifts for the children — a lifesize doll for Clara and a toy soldier for Fritz.

The strange guest has another surprise for Clara — a Nutcracker. But Fritz, in a fit of jealousy, grabs the Nutcracker and angrily stamps it. Clara, in disbelief, sadly goes off to bed.

After the party, while all are sleeping, Clara, still thinking of her Nutcracker, creeps downstairs. Suddenly the tree begins to grow until it touches the ceiling. The mythical tale begins to unfold bringing suspense, enchantment and wonderment.

Adult admission is $12.50 (the price includes a complimentary cocktail) and $9.50 for children under 13.

Tickets may be obtained by sending a check and self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Diamondhead Performing Arts Society, 443 Yacht Club Drive, Suite 701, Diamondhead, MS 39525.

For information, contact Carol Novak, 255-6042. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Christmas cacti

Shorter days inspire holiday blooms

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Thanksgiving cacti are in full bud or bloom, and Christmas cacti will soon begin to show small flower buds. It's a shame these plants typically bloom only once a year and then for only about two weeks.

Sometimes a plant will develop a few flowers in spring, but leaf margins.

Many gardeners have long held the belief that to make these cacti flower, it is necessary to keep them very dry, almost to the point of shriveling.

This is not the case, and the plants actually produce more flowers if they are not allowed to get bone dry. Admittedly, keeping the soil wet leads to root and stem decay, but a

Today, with homes being warmer, with every room lighted with ceiling and table lamps, and with people staying up later to watch television, Thanksgiving and Christmas cacti may remain vegetative and never flower.

One off the easiest ways to bring the Thanksgiving cacti into bloom is to leave them outdoors until they are heavily budded. The naturally occurring shorter days and cooler temperature will bring the plants into flower year after year.

It takes about 20 to 25 short days (12 or fewer hours of light) with night temperatures of less than 60 degrees for maximum flower bud initiation.

Flowering will occur in nine or 10 weeks. These plants initiate flower buds when given short days and night temperatures up to 75 degrees or when given night temperatures of 55 to 59 degrees under any day length.

They flower better when exposed to both short days and cool nights.

There are several varieties of Thanksgiving cacti; White Christmas (white), Red Radiance (red), Lavender Doll (light purple), Peach Parfait (peach red), Christmas Chard (magenta), and Yellow Charm (golden-yellow).

Christmas cacti are usually red, and the varieties are Christmas Cheer, Koeniger and Norris.

During the growing season, night temperatures above 60 degrees are best, and the plants tolerate a good amount of sun. A light soil mix with sand added for weight is recommended.

Fertilize the plants every two weeks during the growing season with light applications of water soluble 20-10-20 or 15-16-17 fertilizer. Fertilization should be stopped in midsummer.

If you want to propagate more plants from the ones you have, it is a relatively easy process. Sections of two- or three-leaf segments can be rooted once the plants stop flowering if the temperature is 70 degrees or above.

Use a well-drained rooting medium. Rooting takes place in three or four weeks.

in Mississippi
Gardens

the period of heaviest bloom is from mid-November through mid-December.

Formerly known as zygocactus, Thanksgiving and Christmas cacti have been placed in the genus Schlumbergera. Within the genus, the two species are truncata (Thanksgiving) and bridgesii (Christmas).

These two species are distinguishable because the Thanksgiving cactus has points on the margins of the leaves while the Christmas cactus has rounded slightly moist soil encourages growth and flowering.

Thanksgiving and Christmas cacti flower at a time of year when the natural length of the day in hours is short, and the length of the night is long. The plants also can be brought into flower by cool temperatures.

Years ago when homes were not as well-lighted and not as well-heated, people encountered little trouble in getting these plants to flower.

Story Hour titles told

"Thanksgiving" will be the theme for this week's children's story time at the City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis.

One Tough Turkey and Arthur's Thanksgiving are the books to be featured on Wednesday, November 25, at 10:30 a.m. at the City-County Public Library.

Children will see a finger play, receive a coloring sheet and see a Thanksgiving movie. There will be no children's story hour at the Waveland Library this week.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school children three to five years of age who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group. Programs last approximately one hour, depending upon subject matter and activity.

More information on story hours may be obtained by calling Karen Peoples at the Waveland Library at 467-9240, or Sandra Ladner or Myra Haynes at the City-County Library, 467-5282.

Cazier honored

Coast Episcopal High School teacher Sandy Cazier has recently been the recipient of local and national honors. She is among the teachers selected from across the United States to be named in Who's Who Among America's Teachers.

All of the teachers being honored were selected by their former students who themselves are currently listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students, or the National Dean's List, publications which recognize the top five percent of our nation's high school and college students respectively.

The students were requested to nominate teachers who "made a difference in their lives" by helping to shape their values, inspiring interest in a particular subject and challenging them to strive for excellence.

Cazier was also named by the Pass Christian Rotary Club as winner of their 1992 "Outstanding Educator" Award. She has taught English, creative writing, and biology at CEHS for nine years and has been Coast Episcopal's STAR teacher for the last two years.

Accidental discovery may end obesity

WASHINGTON -- Researchers may have discovered a way to end obesity ... by accident!

In a study with a potential cholesterol lowering agent, scientists noted an unusual side effect. Instead of lower cholesterol levels, patients receiving a natural plant colloid lost weight while body weight in a control group remained constant.

The scientists says the mechanism behind the weight loss is not clear, but suggest it is partially due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

Scientists in another study published in the British Journal of Nutrition, found that patients consuming the same colloid lost weight in spite of being instructed not to alter normal eating patterns. Despite this evidence, other scientists may not agree on the weight loss benefits of colloids. Someday, pending further study, there could be universal agreement that colloids are helpful in confronting the problem of obesity.

National Dietary Research, whose research topics have been the subject of articles published in recent medical and nutritional journals, has successfully incorporated a series of colloids into a chewable food tablet called FS-1. When used as directed, FS-1 replaces high calorie fats with lower calorie nutrients, thus providing optimum nutrition with a minimum number of fat calories.

According to an article published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition, consciously limiting the amount of food one consumes is not necessary to lose weight, provided you limit the fat. A Florida company has obtained exclusive distribution rights to FS-1, which is available through pharmacies and other health care professionals.

Problems women have with hysterectomies.

1. Pain
2. Scarring
3. Blood loss
4. Missing work

New "Micro-Incision Surgery" may reduce these problems.

The Laser and Advanced Surgical Procedures Center now offers a modern micro-incision surgical procedure that can reduce the problems associated with a hysterectomy. This procedure is called Laparoscopic Assisted Hysterectomy.

Unlike conventional abdominal hysterectomies using a scalpel, there's no major incision through stomach muscles. Instead, advanced surgical techniques and equipment are used -- including laparoscopes -- making gynecological surgery less problematic.

With micro-incision surgery, a minimally-invasive surgical technique, the incisions are much smaller, so tissue damage is reduced. You are likely to experience less pain and better cosmetic results than with traditional surgery. The chance of complications or infection is reduced. And recovery is much faster, meaning fewer days in the hospital and a faster return to a normal routine.

Our surgeons have undergone special training utilizing the advanced instrumentation that makes this procedure possible. So before undergoing surgery, explore the benefits available with this technique.

We've made a substantial commitment to provide our patients with the benefits of micro-incision surgery. Our highly-skilled surgical team undergoes on-going training as newer surgical procedures and equipment become available. Micro-incision surgery, a minimally-invasive surgical technique, is also available for abdominal problems (gallbladder removal and appendectomy).

The Treutel Insurance Agency, Inc. of Bay St. Louis, was named a Million Dollar Life Producer for 1991 by American States Life Insurance Company.

The agency was awarded the honor after meeting life insurance sales of over $1 million.

The 67-year-old agency has represented American States or its sister companies for over 20 years, and this is the second consecutive year they have received the Million Dollar Life Award.

The American States Insurance companies are among the nation's leading insurers.

During more than 60 years of operation, the American States companies have earned a reputation for prompt, fair claims treatment, outstanding customer service and modern innovative policies.

Diane Havard, loan officer and government guaranteed loan specialist of Hancock Bank, has been appointed to the U.S. Small Business Administration's State Advisory Council by SBA Administrator Patricia Saiki.

The State Council advises the SBA on program and policy issues of concern to the small business community. Its main function is to offer resolutions to Congress regarding the area's needs relating to SBA programs.

Havard joined Hancock Bank's Commercial Loan Department in 1991 and presently serves as the bank's certified SBA lending officer.

Hancock Bank is actively pursuing government guaranteed loans for customers who are interested in new small business or expansion loans. During the past year, the bank has increased their new SBA loans 100 percent. Interested customers should ask their bank officer about the SBA loan programs.
